

Jenn is the Mayor and has served as a fair and effective leader in the Town for many years. Accomplishments include supporting Safe Routes to School, prioritizing public safety (like hosting Town Halls with law enforcement, sponsoring a Safe Storage Ordinance, and supporting license plate readers), improving Town website and communication channels, and mitigating parking and traffic issues that impact Town center. Jenn works closely with residents and staff to preserve the natural beauty of Woodside. Jenn also focuses on projects specific to District 1, like the successful completion of the Glens Paths. When re-elected, Jenn will support the development of a town-center plan, fire safety, and common sense process changes that improve resident interactions with the Town.

Before Town Council, Jenn served on Woodside's Planning Commission where she improved building processes to ensure fairness, efficiency and transparency. Prior to the Planning Commission, Jenn served on Woodside's Circulation Committee where she advocated for better paths around town for pedestrians, equestrians and bikers.

Outside of public service, Jenn is General Counsel for a software company and made Woodside her home in 2012. She enjoys the beautiful community, especially access to hiking trails and top notch public schools for her three kids.
